NAU – EXTENDED CAMPUSSES PUBLIC AGENCY MANAGEMENT DEPARTMENT

Job Snapshot

Location: Any location for online instruction; In-person instruction in the following counties: Maricopa, Mohave, Navajo, Pima, Pinal, Yavapai

Employee Type: Part-Time

Industry: Education – Teaching – Administration

Manages Others: No

Job Type: Higher Education

Public Administration or Public Management

Experience: At least 2 year(s)

Description
Northern Arizona University's (NAU) Extended Campuses provides higher education throughout Arizona both on campus and online. Our student population is growing! As a result, NAU’s Extended Campuses Public Agency Management Department is currently seeking applications for part-time faculty to teach undergraduate courses in the broad areas of public administration, public management and leadership.

The Public Agency Management Department mission is to prepare students to become effective and ethical public managers through the development of managerial, problem solving, budgetary, and leadership skills. Our faculty is committed to every student’s success. By promoting rigorous academic standards and high expectations for student achievement, our programs emphasize experiential learning linking theory to specific problems relevant to public managers.

Requirements

Qualifications
Applicants interested in teaching for the Public Agency Management Department will preferably have teaching experience in the fields of political science, public administration, or public policy or related academic disciplines such as criminal justice or emergency services management.

- Applicants should have a minimum of a master’s degree for teaching 200 and 300-level undergraduate courses with a doctoral degree preferred for those teaching 400-level courses. On a case by case basis, extensive and relevant professional experience and successful teaching experience will be considered

- Applicants should have a minimum of a master’s degree for teaching 200 and 300-level undergraduate courses with a doctoral degree preferred for those teaching 400-level courses. On a case by case basis, extensive and relevant professional experience and successful teaching experience will be considered.
substitutes for a doctoral degree for candidates qualified to teach 400-level or capstone courses.

- Applicants with a combination of relevant academic and professional public, private, or non-profit sector administrative, planning, human resource management, and budgeting experience represent the best fit for our program. If an applicant has extensive relevant professional experience but lacks any type of teaching experience relevant to the public agency management curriculum, the Letter of Application and the Letters of Recommendation must demonstrate the promise of teaching effectiveness.

Northern Arizona University is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. Minorities, women, persons with disabilities, and veterans are encouraged to apply.

To apply, submit via e-mail your CV, cover letter and three current teaching evaluations to extended.campuses@nau.edu. Please type Public Agency Management in the Subject Line.